WOMAN FIGHTS BACK IN 'OTHER MAN' CASE HERE

That the suit of Arthur C. Cote, of Los Angeles, for the annulment of his marriage to Daisy M. Cote, is not to have smooth sailing is indicated by papers on file in the Orange County Superior court today. Cote filed his action in the Los Angeles county courts on January 27, alleging to have been induced through fraud into marriage. His charge against Mrs. Cote is of a serious nature, the name of another man having been brought into the case.

Through an application filed in the Los Angeles courts on March 3 by Attorneys Marks and Launer, of Fullerton, representing Mrs. Cote, the case has been transferred to the Orange county courts. Cote did not appear to contest the application for change of place of trial. Attached to the complaint filed here late yesterday was the plaintiff's demurser, and a petition for an allowance during the pendency of the action and costs of action and attorney fees.

The complainant states the couple were married in Los Angeles on December 18, 1917, and separated on September 1, 1919. Cote asks for the custody of one child, but since the separation another has been born and Mrs. Cote is asking for the custody of both children. Mrs. Cote charges her husband with desertion. She charged him with having contributed but $35 to the support of herself and children since leaving home.

Cote is represented by Attorney Harry K. Smith of Los Angeles.

NEWPORT POTATOLESS AS WOMEN OF CIVIC BODY OPEN BOYCOTT

Newport Beach is today practically a potatoless town.

The drive of the Women's Civic League of Newport Beach against the high price of "spuds" opened this morning and grocers in that city were running low in their potato supply yesterday. The grocers are encouraging the women in their campaign by refusing to place orders for potatoes to supply the wants of persons who do not feel inclined to fight the high cost of the potato.

The league announced last week that the drive would open today and petitions were circulated by a committee, those signing pledging themselves not to use potatoes until the price is reduced. The league also requested those joining in the movement not to put in a supply of the "spuds" before the opening of the drive. As a result of this request and the fact that the opening of the boycott was only a few days away, Newport and Balboa grocers report the potato market to have been dull during the past week.

FISH PLANT DESTROYED
LONG BEACH, Mar. 17.—The plant of the Gloucester Fish Company was a mass of ruins today, following a fire of mysterious origin which caused a $10,000 loss, not covered by insurance. The owners announced they will rebuild at once.

Fracas Over Weed Chains
Leads to Investigation
By U. S. Sleuths

Joe Strofino is at the Santa Ana hospital with a knife wound in his back. S. Cabbianni is at the county jail with a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder preferred against him and Frank Martinelli is at the county jail under a charge of transporting liquor, all as the result of a quarrel between Strofino and Cabbianni as to the use of weed chains on the car in which they were driving.

The three men were arrested about midnight by officers Murray and Rogers, and in their arrest the police believe they have captured a trio of bootleggers the federal officers have been trying to catch for some time. All are Italians.

The men left San Diego about 11 o'clock yesterday morning in a Cadillac car belonging to Cabbianni and Strofino, who are brothers-in-law. They drove by way of Oceanside and arrived in the city just before midnight.

The relatives got into a heated argument at various times during the trip over the use of weed chains on the tires. One wanted to put them on and the other did not. Finally, about fifteen miles below Capistrano the car struck a damp pavement and the car turned end for end. The chains were put on.

Knife Wielded, Claim.

Stopping at the corner of Fourth and Spurdone streets, the two men resumed their fuss over the use of the chains, and one wanted to take them off. Words led to blows, with Cabbianni resorting to the use of a pocket knife in his fight with his brother-in-law. He was said to have stabbed him in the back before the officers got to the scene to put a stop to the fracas. The injured man was sent to the hospital by the officers.

Both were alleged to have been under the influence of liquor and the one driving was said to have been unable to control the wheel of the car with safety by the time Santa Ana was reached. Martinelli, who was a passenger, and the man on the front seat with the driver became alarmed, and induced the driver to stop at Fourth and Spurdone. The chains were put on.

In one there was alleged to have been a quart bottle of "Old Taylor" whiskey. Martinelli claimed the case containing the bottle and he immediately was placed under arrest for investigation.

Beloved Gang Members.

City Marshal Jernigan got in touch with Federal officers in Los Angeles who advised that the men be held pending investigation. They answer the description of a gang of men who are alleged to have been engaged in the illicit sale of intoxicants in Orange and San Diego counties.

They are believed to be the men who sold sixty gallons of alleged wine for $400, the wine developing to have been only water colored to look like wine. The sale was made in Los Angeles and they could not be held on a booze selling complaint and a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses was lodged against them. They since have been released.

A large number of various sizes of corks were found in one of the pockets of the tonneau and a small glass was found in one of the suitcases. The officers believe this was used in selling whisky by the drink.

Federal officers were here this afternoon to look the men over and to take Martinelli into federal custody, for the officers say they have a good case against him. Confiscation of the automobile also is possible under the law.

NO TAX CUT ON INCOMES TILL 1922 IS WORD

House Ways Board Is Told
Danger of Failure to Simplify Laws

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—Federal income taxes cannot be reduced until after 1922, Secretary of the Treasury Houston today informed the House Ways and Means Committee.

He declared, however, that revision of several of the present Federal taxes should be made and revenues adjusted to make up for the loss the Government will sustain as a result of the Supreme Court decision that dividends paid in stock are non-taxable.

To make up for this loss, Houston recommended a tax on the undistributed profits of all corporations after January 1, 1921.

Excess profits also cannot be reduced until 1922, the secretary wrote the Committee. The greatest need, Houston said, is a simplification of the income and profits taxes.

"Public opinion has not yet awakened to the gravity of the consequences which are likely to follow failure to simplify the tax law at this legislative session," the secretary wrote.

Merritt was food controller for California.

WIFE WHO PREFERRED CHICAGO TO S. F. IS LOSER IN DIVORCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 17.—Any one who prefers Chicago to San Francisco is unreasonable, said Judge Flood, granting a divorce to George H. Bigelow, knit goods dealer.

MINE FIRE BURNING 15 YEARS QUENCHED

SHANANDOAH, Pa., Mar. 17.—Announcement has been made that officials believed the fire which has raged in the underground workings at the Girard Mammoth Colliery at Raven Run, Pa., for fifteen years is now under control. In a short time the burning area will be opened up and hundreds of thousands of tons of anthracite will be reclaimed.

The defense will make a brief answer.

Judge Pattee, it is believed, will have his answer ready Thursday afternoon or Friday.

One of the side issues of the case was cleared when French announced he had agreed to indefinite confinement of the case in which Bruce Stevenson, defense attorney is charged with perjury.

He also predicted further revolutions in Europe.

Senators today were generally slow in offering formal comment on Hoover's stand.

The Senate today laid on the table the question of Irish independence along with the whole question of self-determination for subject peoples.

By a vote of 54 to 21, the Senate tabled a reservation to the treaty, offered by Senator Owen of Oklahoma, stating that the United States understood that the British protectorate over Egypt would be ended.

The reservation carried an amendment recognizing the Irish Republic and stating that the United States understood that Great Britain would also recognize Irish independence and further amendments of the same import as to Korea, the Philippines, Porto Rico and Hawaii.

SLAYING CASE QUIZ DATE AT HANFORD IS DEFINITELY FIXED

HANFORD, Cal., Mar. 17.—The preliminary examination of L. W. W. evidence was resumed at 9 a. m. today in the Bisbee deportation trial. Judge Pattee gave his views regarding one of the authorities cited. The defense will make a brief answer.

Orange Woman Bride at Warsaw

On February 13 in the little English church at Warsaw, Poland, Dr. Vera Placida Gardner, well known in Santa Ana and Orange, became the bride of Lieut. Col. Albert Chesley of Minneapolis, head of the Red Cross Commission in Poland. Dr. Gardner went into Poland with the first Red Cross workers following the armistice and has been head of laboratory and bacteriological work for the Red Cross hospitals in Poland.

Mrs. Chesley is the daughter of Mrs. Henri F. Gardner of Orange. She is a graduate of Santa Ana High School, Stanford University and the University of Michigan. She was city bacteriologist of Los Angeles when she and her sister, Miss Margaret Gardner, then deputy city prosecutor, went to France with a Stanford Red Cross unit.

Another member of this unit was Miss Anna Laird, who resigned her position as teacher in Santa Ana High School, to go to France.

The Los Angeles doctor became acquainted with Col. Chesley, a prominent Minneapolis physician, while engaged in Red Cross work in France, and the romance ripened after the two were sent to Poland together.

BERLIN DRIVE PERIL BRINGS RESIGNATION OF REVOLT LEADERS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17.—The old Ebert government has telegraphed to foreign countries asking them to withhold any recognition of the new revolutionary government at Berlin, the State Department was advised today by the German capital.

LONDON, Mar. 17.—Dispatches to the British Foreign Office received late today said that 40 Spartacists have been killed in clashes between troops and radicals at Essen, Germany's great steel manufacturing center.

LONDON, Mar. 17.—With dispatches indicating that nearly 700 persons have been killed and hundreds wounded in fighting growing out of the German counter-revolution since Saturday, the revolution headed by Dr. Wolfgang von Kapp was today believed near its end.

Threat of immediate establishment of a soviet republic and an attack on Berlin was responsible for the decision of Dr. von Kapp and General Luettwitz to resign as heads of the revolutionary government, according to a Berlin dispatch today via Frankfort and Paris.

The decision of the counter-revolutionary leaders to resign unconditionally followed an ultimatum delivered by Deputies Cohn and Daumig. The ultimatum declared that unless both resigned and the Luettwitz troops were withdrawn before 9 p. m. Tuesday, the workmen would proclaim a soviet republic and attack the city.

Workmen in the districts of Weissensee, Rheinhindendorf and Spanien were reported to be fully armed and ready to carry out the threat of the deputies.

There was every indication that the action of Von Kapp in quitting his post was hasty in time to avert widespread civil strife.

A dispatch filed in Berlin yesterday received here this afternoon stated that Dr. Von Kapp informed correspondents that negotiations with the Ebert government had been abandoned "because all powers must be concentrated against the Communists." Von Kapp, according to the dispatch, said the counter-revolutionary government expected a radical revolt and warned the correspondents to stay off the streets.

A Berlin dispatch said it was officially estimated there late today that 75 persons have been killed in fighting between soldiers and citizens at Hagen, Westphalia. This fighting was said to have occurred, when soldiers arrived to occupy the city.

The Senate today laid on the table the question of Irish independence along with the whole question of self-determination for subject peoples.

By a vote of 54 to 21, the Senate tabled a reservation to the treaty, offered by Senator Owen of Oklahoma, stating that the United States understood that the British protectorate over Egypt would be ended.

The reservation carried an amendment recognizing the Irish Republic and stating that Great Britain would also recognize Irish independence and further amendments of the same import as to Korea, the Philippines, Porto Rico and Hawaii.

Disputes at Paris today said that twenty-three persons have been killed and many wounded in clashes between soldiers and citizens at Hagen, Westphalia. This fighting was said to have occurred, when soldiers arrived to occupy the city.

Munich dispatches at Paris described the situation at Munich as critical. Crowds attempted to penetrate the Diet, but were repulsed by soldiers with some casualties.

In Essen the workers' revolutionary council was reported to have constituted an executive committee of thirty members to negotiate an alliance with the socialist parties in the lower Rhine districts and Westphalia for the purpose of establishing a dictatorship of the proletariat.

Try to See Kaiser
A dispatch from The Hague today said that several prominent Germans arrived in automobiles at Amersfoort yesterday for a visit to the former kaiser. They were not admitted to see their former emperor despite repeated attempts.

Advices from Mayence today said that Marshal Foch and the Allied commanders have decided the Allied forces now along the Rhine are sufficient to meet any emergency caused by the German revolution. Foch has returned to Paris.

While the resignation of Von Kapp averted civil war, scores of lives have been sacrificed and hundreds of persons wounded. From 400 to 500 persons were killed in Kiel when a cruiser bombarded the city, according to a Kiel dispatch to the Morning Post. The cruiser opened fire when anti-Kapp groups staged a demonstration, the dispatch said. Heavy loss of life was reported in other parts of the nation. Scores were reported to have been killed in clashes in the Berlin, Hamburg and Dresden districts.

Hindenburg Not Rebel
Berlin dispatches said Field Marshal von Hindenburg, German military idol, had refused to have any

CYPRESS FOLK DISCUSS
MERGER OF 4 SCHOOLS

CYPRESS, Mar. 17.—Discussion of the proposed consolidation of four school districts of Magnolia, Savannah, Centralia and Cypress, took the greater part of the evening, at a meeting held here recently, when County School Superintendent R. P. Mitchell was present to advise with taxpayers of the communities on the project. Mitchell pointed out that the consolidated district would be no larger than the Garden Grove district and that Garden Grove experiences no difficulty in transporting pupils. For the present, Mitchell advised, it would be best to consolidate the districts, and use the present buildings, but consolidate the grades in the different schools, sending all seventh and eighth graders to Magnolia and fifth and sixth to Centralia, etc.

There was also some discussion of a new consolidated school building. One difficulty was that a building costing probably $150,000 would be needed, whereas the consolidated district could not be bonded for more than $70,000.

The upshot of the matter was the appointment of a committee, consisting of O. P. Bunyard, George Trapp, Mrs. J. Preston, S. Winters, and W. D. Ledford to look into the building proposition, and the handing out of petitions to leaders of the four districts when sufficiently signed, will constitute the first step in consolidation.

Sufficient hotel accommodations have been secured in Sacramento to assure the holding of the state Elks' convention in the Capitol on October 7, 8 and 9.

PROBABLY TAKE STORM ADDS $9,000 FOR BUDGETS

Indications now are that Orange county will be asked for not less than $9,000 for the Salvation Army. A national drive is to be conducted in May for raising money to carry out national, state and local Salvation Army plans the country over. Yesterday at a meeting in Los Angeles, county quotas were announced for the counties' shares of the state budget.

Mayor J. G. Mitchell, who was present from Santa Ana, was told that Orange county had been given a quota of $6,000 as its share of the state budget. In addition to that it is expected that the county will raise money for the local work. The local budget will be very close to $3,000.

Last year the county was asked for $5,700, of which about $2,600 was for the local budget. The canvass, conducted under the auspices of the Elks produced $2,600.

The question as to whether or not an effort will be made to raise funds here for a Salvation Army building, in addition to raising the state and county funds, will be decided at a meeting of the Orange County Salvation Army Advisory Board Thursday of next week.

GOOD PROGRAM AT EL MODENA SCHOOL

EL MODENA, Mar. 17.—The program at the El Modena schoolhouse was a great success. The splendid Endeavor service was followed by a half hour song service, accompanied by an orchestra of ten pieces, which was highly enjoyed. Then Dr. John Dorland of Pasadena, showed over 100 slides, illustrating the reconstruction work done by the Friends church in France, and the destruction done by the Germans. Dr. Dorland is a dentist and volunteered for service, going without pay. The lecture and pictures were very interesting and instructive.

With the exception of the mountain districts, Anaheim led the procession in the amount of moisture precipitated in the rain of yesterday and last night. The Mother Colony had .36 of an inch. Talbert was the low point, with .28 of an inch. Jacobs' ranch on the Irvine, which is the old golf grounds near Orange county park, reports .98 of an inch and the park comes along with .85 of an inch.

Beeet seeding in the county is about two thirds completed and the rain will occasion a brief delay on those lands that are yet to be planted.

The total for this city for the season is well up to the average, being 11.21 inches, 4.08 inches more than the precipitation to this date last season.

The storm broke during the night and this morning dawned bright and clear.

SURPRISE NEWLYWEDS AT FULLERTON HOME

FULLERTON, Mar. 17.—Ralph H. French and bride, formerly Miss Letta Stillers, of Garden Grove, were certainly taken by surprise when neighbors and old friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. French. A handsome gift of silverware was presented to the young couple, with best wishes and congratulations. A merry time was had and the evening passed all too quickly. Delicious cake and ice cream were served for refreshments. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Good, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Tennant and daughter, Doris, Mrs. Gates and daughter, Elizabeth. Mrs. Ballou, Mr. Scott Tabor and son, Roland, Mr. and Mrs. French, Mrs. Julia Cusick, Mr. and Mrs. O. Compton, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Shally, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Reno, Mr. and Mrs. C. Houston.

A military detachment was marching through the workingmen's quarter, the dispatch said, with its band playing "Deutschland Uber Alles." Some workmen cursed the song and were arrested. Comrades attempted to release them and the military opened fire.

MAY NOT GET JOY FROM STOLEN WINE

GLENDALE, Mar. 17.—It is believed today that a burglar who stole all the sacramental wine from the Holy Family Catholic Church here, was not getting any particular satisfaction from his theft, inasmuch as the wine, which is manufactured by the monks in the Los Gatos monastery, near San Jose, is especially sour. The wine stolen represents a three months' supply of the church. It is the law that anyone using even a modicum of this beverage shall be liable to a fine of $1,000.

thing to do with the revolutionists, but that General Eric Von Ludendorff continued participation in the Von Kapp councils.

A report received in Paris late last night said that Von Kapp had fled from Berlin. This was not confirmed from other sources.

Bloody fighting between Communists and police was reported from Daisberg, where fourteen persons were said to have been killed and eighty wounded.

Interest here was directed toward Stuttgart, where the German national assembly was to meet today. General Maercker was said to have arrived in Stuttgart from Berlin with terms of the revolutionary government's offer to resign. It was believed in official circles here that the Ebert government will continue its firm stand, refusing to negotiate with the revolutionists.

Remains Loyal

News agency dispatches from Berlin said the imperial ministry of finance remained loyal to the Ebert government and had refused to obey Von Kapp's instructions to pay 10,000,000 marks for current expenditures, including pay for troops. Maximilian Harden, editor of Zukunft, has been arrested, the dispatch said.

A dispatch to the Berlingske Tidende confirmed dispatches from the United Press yesterday on fighting in Dresden between Communists and Reichswehr troops. The dispatch said fifty-nine were killed and several hundred wounded, and that the fighting continued throughout Monday and yesterday.

Strike Spreads

Another Copenhagen dispatch reported that the general strike called by the Ebert government to break the revolution had reached the second zone of Schleswig, which recently voted to remain German. Railway workers joined in the strike, the dispatch said, asserting that traffic was paralyzed. The supreme council of the peace conference in session here was reported to have agreed unanimously to adopt the French viewpoint regarding Germany, which is that, because of the obscure situation in Germany, the only suitable Allied attitude is to demand strict carrying out of the treaty of Versailles. British dispatches, quoting advices from Berlin, said that opposition to Von Kapp was growing in the German capital.

A delayed dispatch from Berlin today said several persons were killed and many wounded when soldiers and workmen clashed there Monday evening.

A military detachment was marching through the workingmen's quarter, the dispatch said, with its band playing "Deutschland Uber Alles." Some workmen cursed the song and were arrested. Comrades attempted to release them and the military opened fire.

SHERMAN ACT DEAD

However lawyers may argue, the Sherman act is virtually dead. It has not been repealed, but it has lost its force. Its vitality was sapped years ago, when the Supreme court established the "rule of reason" in the Northern Securities case, and the finishing blow was dealt in the recent decision in the case of the United States Steel Corporation.

The practical purport of the Sherman act was that business growth was criminal, and the larger the growth, the greater the crime. At least, that is what it amounted to in early interpretation and practice. Many a proposed combination was forbidden merely because it was contrary to the letter of the law, despite obvious economic benefits that would have resulted. Some trusts were dissolved regardless of whether their operations were evil or not, because of that same adherence to the letter of the law. "Restraint of trade" was a term that went far and covered much ground.

But times have changed, and with them have changed economic conditions, business practices, public sentiment—and judicial opinion. The courts, even while protesting the eternal and immutable quality of their decisions, follow the public mood. Thus interpretation of the Sherman act has come to be of the spirit rather than the letter; and even the spirit is changed.

It is all natural enough. The Sherman act was designed to correct actual abuses of power on the part of big corporations. Perhaps at the time it could not help being merely restrictive and punitive, and thus merely negative. It served its purpose of lopping off business abuses, of punishing malefactors and subduing all-powerful Big Business to a point where it had to give the public a square deal.

Now that punitive era is nearly over, business for the most part has learned its lesson. There is more conscience in business, and more public spirit. Also there is far more power in federal law and federal agencies today to safeguard the public against business abuses than there was in the old days when the public cry was for trust-busting. It is a creative, constructive era. Nearly everybody realizes today that it is desirable to release all the nation's energies instead of repressing them, that there must be co-operation and centralization in business as everywhere else, and that expediency is the best test of the size permissible in a business institution.

Everything is getting bigger; and on the whole, with bigness comes more power, efficiency, productivity, prosperity. Let business grow all it will and can—so long as the United States government remains not its servant, but its master.

A FEW CLOSED MINES

Coincident with the restoration of the railroads to private ownership, 35 coal mines in the Pittsburgh, Pa., district were forced to close on account of an acute car shortage. Many railroads began before March 1 to keep their own rolling stock on their own lines. Widespread shortage resulted immediately.

This condition may not last long. It may be merely a necessary inconvenience of a transition period. Nevertheless it furnishes a concrete example of one problem which has to be solved by the powers which control the railroad business. And it is interesting from still another point of view.

One of the complaints made by the coal miners last fall, when they threw the nation into such turmoil of distress and argument, was that they were all too frequently out of jobs through no fault or intention of their own. Mine workers, are rather at the mercy of other factors in the coal business. Their work of getting out coal does not go on regardless of supply, demand and distribution. That fact may hold no justification for strikes which are harmful to the whole country, but it should at least interest the average citizen and make him a little more open to a broad and generous view of such problems.

DO SERVICE MEN WANT A BONUS?

One wonders how generally former service men agree with the testimony of Walter W. Burns of Green Point, N. Y., before the house ways and means committee, in the matter of relief legislation.

Burns maintains that "a money hand-out would simply be thrown away." He explains that hardly any former soldiers or sailors are without employment; that he is a member of the American Legion, and knows that many members are opposed to the demand now made in the Legion's name; that service men for the most part have thought little about the bonus question, and do not know the effect that such a payment would have on national finances and taxation; and that so far as reward is concerned, the satisfaction of having fought to defend the country is enough; that those who need a bonus would squander it, and those who don't would put it in a bank.

Somewhat corroborative is the statement of Representative Garner of Texas, that not one former service man in his district has written in favor of the proposed relief. It would be illuminating to know how the matter stands in other congressional districts.

Inquiry almost anywhere reveals the fact that many ex-soldiers are opposed to a "bonus," feeling that such payment would lower their self-respect. But there is no sure indication of how widespread this feeling is. It would be well if a referendum could be taken. What the majority of service men voted for would not necessarily settle the matter, but it would help the public to make up its mind as to the propriety of any such payment.

WOMEN AND ACCOUNTS

Whether she be forced out into the world to earn her living, or remain within the confines of home all her days, it is inevitable that every woman will have to handle money at some time. The practical and economical administration of her home as well as the necessities of business life demand that she shall understand the keeping of accounts and be accurate in the four fundamental processes of arithmetic. Education which fails to prepare women for this contingency fails in a grave essential.

Recently in a western state a woman who had the position of mistress in a small town was arrested on a charge of embezzlement, and given a suspended sentence pending investigation. When the investigation was made it proved that the trouble was not deliberate dishonesty but a poor system of keeping her accounts. She was technically guilty of embezzlement because she had diverted federal funds to her own private use, but she did not even know that she had done so, until her financial reports made authorities higher up suspicious.

A pardon has been recommended by the postal authorities and will be granted by the president without delay. This will relieve the woman from penal servitude and rehabilitate her in the eyes of her fellow townspeople. But nothing will ever wipe out the personal humiliation, nor the dread lest the taint of suspicion may cling to her.

She is a good woman, with a family dependent upon her for support. But how can she conduct any business successfully if she cannot keep her accounts correctly? Yet she is no different from thousands of her sex.

Better training for all girls and women in the simpler forms of business and the handling of financial affairs is one of the needs of the day.

Those Democrats who voted against the railroad bill must feel rather cheap since President Wilson approved it. Even Wilson had to acknowledge that the Republican Congress had done the best that could be done with a very difficult problem.

Mr. McAdoo suggests that the United States buy some of the British colonies, Jamaica, for instance. But wouldn't that be a rum deal?

The Colorado River

From the Pasadena Star-News—

Franklin K. Lane, regarded as one of the ablest men who has served in a cabinet position in recent years, is a man of tremendous energy and intensely practical, yet a man with vision and a dreamer of dreams which are capable of being brought to fulfillment, to the benefit of this nation and of mankind. One of the gigantic, but thoroughly practicable projects—so engineering experts say—which Mr. Lane, before leaving President Wilson's cabinet, pushed energetically was that which embodies a plan for controlling and utilizing the waters of the Colorado river, by damming that stream scientifically, up in the narrow gorges of the Grand Canyon. This scheme once for all would put an end to disastrous floods along the lower Colorado and in this alone would be worth untold millions to the Southwest.

But the impounding of waters in the Colorado and its tributaries offers the most alluring possibilities. Some 1,500,000 acres now arid, thus could be reclaimed. Colorado River Valley land is equal to the best on earth in fertility and productivity. The rich mineral compositions which the Colorado has deposited along its course, in the silt of countless overflows, makes the soil of that region of a fertility that will last for generations unexhausted by instant cropping, experts say.

Mr. Lane foresees this vast region transformed into one of the most productive districts on the globe. American enterprise, pluck, capital and brains will do it. In order to initiate such a colossal enterprise men of the forceful thought, the vision and the wide influence of Mr. Lane are needed to intensify public interest and to prompt the people to urge congress to start this great work.

The American hen last year laid 42,000,000,000 eggs. If all of these were one egg, it would weigh 2,625,000 short tons, and a fowl big enough to lay it would be two-thirds of a mile high.

Sure and We're All Irish This Day

station we have been talking about lately, and it should be the best that can be built. A few thousand dollars extra put into a GOOD building will be found a profitable investment in the years to come over a POOR building with an initial saving in cost.

The department needs a pumper engine which will throw real fire-fighting streams of water and several of them.

The longest ladder the department now has is a 25 foot ladder. That is all right for a residence, but what if the old hotel building or any of the other three story buildings were to catch fire and the people should be hemmed off from the fire escapes. The 25 foot ladders would be useless and there would be nothing to do but jump to the hard sidewalk and pavement below. The department ought to have a life net for any who HAVE to jump, and a 65-foot extension ladder for use in case of fire.

The firemen ought to have smoke masks, too, which would give them real protection inside a burning building, and a new fire station in the eastside industrial district for immediate work in fighting fires in the several large plants there.

In short, while we're getting, let us get an up-to-date and complete fire-fighting equipment, able to cope efficiently with any fire that could break out, with ample reserve equipment should a second fire start while the first one is being fought. Then's my sentiments for the good of Santa Ana. Yours very truly,

E. R. CURTIS.

WHAT'S THE USE?

When we were but a barefoot lad, We learned to multiply and add, And occupy the time we had Accumulating lore; We gourmandized on books and tracts, And gulped down undigested facts, From Mother Goose up to the Acts, And always cried for more. And while we yet were young and raw, We fed our intellectual maw On fragments of the common law, Philosophy and such; Geometry and algebra, The secrets of the Milky Way, Yea, something new each passing day.

We strove to find and clutch, We would not let ambition pale, So on to Princeton, Harvard, Yale, Without a thought of shirk or fail, Or notion of retreat; We served our time with "prof" and "frat," And left the last school we were at, Diplomas pasted in our hat.

The world beneath our feet, Now, thrice a day at some cafe, We place the food upon our tray, And figure what we ought to pay For portions too minute;

But though we are a banker's clerk,

And figuring is our daily work,

Some nifty maiden with a smirk,

Gives her check register a jerk,

And proves we can't compute.

—E. A. Aultman, in L. A. Times.

The Ontario Report tells of a La-vene man who was driving across the Pacific Electric track there and his auto was struck by the train, severing the whole front end of the auto and leaving him seated in the car unhurt. He could probably tell from the sound that his engine was missing, without taking the trouble to look.

Society

Clubs—Lodges—Churches

Ladies' Aid Entertained

The Brotherhood of the First Presbyterian church was "at home" to the Ladies' Aid Society last evening and their hospitality outshone anything ever attempted previously in the annals of this organization.

Arriving at the church at the appointed hour of 6:30 o'clock, the ladies were met at the door and ushered in by the president, A. B. Gardner and his reception committee and made to feel at home. But the ultimate achievement was the banquet.

When the ladies were summoned to the dining-room an enchanted vision rose before them. The staid white pillars of the dining-room lobby had been converted into a palm garden, the hard straight aisle into an alluring path that led to fairyland. Here California verdure, combined with the artistic skill of George Lewis, made a glimpse of the "Emerald Isle" possible. Festoons of green crepe paper and flags of "Old Erin" canopied the white tables, which were lavishly decorated with maiden-hair ferns mingled with the "Shamrock green," with just a touch of red geranium to typify California sunshine.

The table appointments, suggestive of St. Patrick's Day throughout, and arranged by G. B. Darnell, were perfect. Mr. Darnell was also head-waiter and was so designated by an elaborate green helmet and white apron, while his snow-aproned under-waiters, eighteen in number, with green sleeve bands dignified yet genial, gave faultless service.

The elaborate four-course menu was prepared entirely by a committee of men of the church, ably presided over by Dr. H. N. Brothers. It was delicious in every detail.

During the dinner and in the program that followed, Messrs. Harry Garstang, Maurice Phillips and John Chapman, boyhood friends, gave pleasing vocal numbers, including familiar airs and several solos that were greatly appreciated.

The after-dinner speaking was led by Mr. Gardner, who proved himself a most humorous toastmaster. Mrs. C. H. Baird, president of the Ladies' Aid Society, responded in gracious manner, and Mrs. J. A. Stevenson, in happy vein, humored or scolded the gentlemen at will.

The enjoyable affair closed with a few well-chosen remarks by the pastor, Dr. J. A. Stevenson.

The event has passed, but its memory will long remain as something delectable to the one hundred and ten ladies who were so gallantly entertained.

Jefferson P. T. A. Meeting

First Travelers Meeting

The First Ebell Travelers met on Monday at the home of Mrs. W. M. Smart. After the study period, a pleasant social hour closed the meeting, during which refreshments were served by the hostess.

THE MINISTRY OF NATURE

* * * * *

When life has grown threadbare and seamy,

And the soul is at war with itself;

When the nerves are unstrung and discordant,

And Courage is laid on the shell;

Then wise Mother Nature invites us away to her fastness to rest.

And we lay, with a sigh of contentment,

Our heads on her kindly brown breast.

Her breath fans our brow, and its odor.

With balsam is fragrant and sweet;

And down through the cool, scented silence,

The pine needles drift o'er our feet;

And far in the dim, distant spaces,

In the soft, tender blue of the skies,

We catch through the low-hanging branches

The calm, brooding light of her eyes.

Then our world-weary spirit grows tranquil.

And the cares that perplex us depart.

As we rest in the bosom of Nature,

And feel the strong beat of her heart;

And her alchemical forces permeate us,

And thrill through our being and brain,

Till life glows with color and beauty.

And Courage grows buoyant again.

—Elizabeth Clarke-Hardy.

Musical Ass'n March Program

A program of special interest to members of the local Musical Association is scheduled for next Tuesday evening at the First Methodist church.

The artists are Mme. Manuela Budrow, Spanish prima donna; Miss Lolla Fagge, violiniste, and Earl Fraser, pianist.

Mme. Budrow's excellent work is not unknown to Santa Anans, as she has visited here and made several public appearances, always with great success.

Both Miss Fagge and Mr. Fraser have been identified with musical life in Santa Ana for a number of years and have a host of admirers.

A most excellent program has been arranged and no doubt a large attendance of members will greet the artists.

Pupils in Recital

The pupils of Mrs. Ollimae Enlow appeared in recital at a studio recital and tea given in her studio in the Spurgeon building Monday and presented a pleasing program.

Those who took part in the entertainment were Georgia Belle Walton, Alberta Cooley, Virginia Slabaugh, Mildred Jacobson and Floyd Mortimer. Miss Kathleen Owens was the accompanist and assisted in the program with several piano numbers.

Mrs. Matthews will give a studio tea and recital every month in the future in order that her pupils will have the advantage of hearing each other and as a means of promoting self-confidence.

I Owe My Life to PE-RU-NA

Mr. McKinley's letter brings cheer to all who may be sufferers as he was. Read it:

"I can honestly say that I owe my life to Peruña. After some of the worst winters in recent years, I gave me up and told me I could not live another month. Peruña saved me. Travelling from town to town, the country, and having to go into all kinds of badly heated stores and buildings, sometimes standing up for hours at a time, while playing my trade, I became very fatigued, but without avail, until I heard of Peruña. It cured me, so I cannot praise it too highly."

SPORTS

BALL CHIEFS HAVE FAT POCKETBOOKS

BY FRANKLIN B. MORSE.

(Written for Pacific Sports Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17—

With the unusually prosperous season enjoyed last year by practically every baseball club of the various professional leagues of the country, managers are starting the 1920 season with well fattened bank accounts. This means they will be able to pay for their players which, in turn, signifies that the manager who does not tend to be parsimonious should be in a position to put a good team in the field.

This is the time of the year that the youngster is being tried out and it is safe to say that there is not a club in the country which, as yet, has determined on its entire lineup. As far as the smaller leagues are concerned, they are keeping the telephone wires hot with messages and S. O. S. calls asking for various players needed to bolster up this or that weak spot in the lineup.

Within the next few weeks, reports from the various training camps will be filled with stories of marvelous youngsters who are being unearthed, and who are expected to set the baseball firmament on fire. In the case of the majority of them the looked for conflagration does not occur. The attention they receive while at the camp usually is as far as it goes. Many a hopeful aspirant for diamond honors has learned in the past that there is a vast difference between playing in practice games and the acid test of the regular season's games.

While it would be sheer guess work at this early stage to attempt to make any prognostications as to the probable relative strengths of the teams in the various leagues, it is safe to say that with the money available to them, the various managers are likely to have organizations which will show better playing strength than they did last year.

At the beginning of the 1919 season the majority of clubs were left in badly straightened financial condition owing to the war, as it is a matter of record that 1919 was one of the leanest financial years ever experienced in the history of the game. Last year saw a wonderful revival which has resulted in the present well filled treasuries.

Morris M. Kirksey, Stanford University and Olympic Club of San Francisco; All Service Meet in London, Sept. 1918, defeating Donaldson, Meers and Howard, world's champion professional sprinters.

Henry Williams, Spokane A. C.; Far Western 100-yd. champion, 1916, defeating Howard Drew in 59.45 sec.; winner 220 Senior National Championship, 1919, defeating Loren Murchison and Wm. Hayes. Time, 21.45 sec.

Ken Lilly, Stanford University; all-round athlete, Varsity man in football, baseball and basketball; good any time for 10.10 in 100 yd. Hurdles: Jud House, Stanford University; holds world's scholastic record of 23.45 sec. in the lows; third place to Simpson and Sylvester in Inter-Allied; Second Senior National Championship, 1918.

Carroll Grunsky, California, who made up with Geo. Parker, world's record holder of 220 vd. dash, the high school team which cleaned up the country in 1913. Has done 15.1 consistently in the highs and has done 24.1 in the lows.

Willard Wells, Stanford University; winner of both sprints and hurdles in 1919, Stanford-California meet. Is specializing in the lows this year.

Carl Gausner, former U. S. C.; has done 15.1 in the highs and is consistent 15.2 man.

John K. Norton, Stanford University and Olympic Club of San Francisco; has records of 15.1 and 24 flat and is very consistent.

Quarter Mile: George Schiller, University of Southern California; has done 50 flat and is considered a "comer."

Karl Geoppert, Olympic Club of San Francisco; the best quarter miler developed on the coast in years, making his reputation by being able to beat Frank Sloman whenever they started. Question as to whether he will compete this year.

Mile Run: Grant Swan, Oregon Aggies, winner of Coast Conference championship in 1919.

Pesky Sprott, University of California; winner of the mile, two miles and second in the half-mile in the 1919 Stanford-California meet. Will specialize in the mile this year.

Dink Templeton, Stanford University; tied for second place in the Inter-Allied; jumps 6 feet 2 consistently and has a record of 6'4".

Brick Muller, University of California; All-American scholastic champion, with a record of 6 ft. 2% inches.

Shot Put: Reg. Caughey, Stanford University; winner at the Inter-Allied Games; has a record of 47 ft. 5 in.

Harry Liversedge, University of California; second at the Inter-Allied Games.

George Bihlman, Olympic Club of San Francisco; holder Stanford-California record, 47 ft. 11 1/4 in.

Hammer: J. McEachern, Far-Western champion; winner of Pacific Coast championship. Distance, 163 ft. 1 1/2 in.

Javelin: Harry Liversedge, University of California; second to George Broader at Inter-Allied. Holder world's scholastic record 187 feet.

Athur Tuck, last year's all-round high school sensation; holder of Junior National record, 178 ft. 4 1/2 in.

Broad Jump: John Merchant, University of California; all-round field event man, who specialized in the broad jump; is a consistent 23-ft. man.

The Far West cannot send another Murray McLaughlin or Johnson of tennis fame, nor another crew at this time, as the one that represented Stanford University at Poughkeepsie in 1912 and which came within an ace of returning home with the "blue ribbon" of rowing—or can the Far West contribute in track and field events another Ralph Rose?

True, the Far West cannot send another Murray McLaughlin or Johnson of tennis fame, nor another crew at this time, as the one that represented Stanford University at Poughkeepsie in 1912 and which came within an ace of returning home with the "blue ribbon" of rowing—or can the Far West contribute in track and field events another Ralph Rose?

SARDINE SALES HOME INDUSTRY AT SAN DIEGO $1,500,000

SAN DIEGO, Mar. 17.—Sardines to the value of approximately $1,500,000 will be packed and shipped to various markets by San Diego cannery before the close of the sardine season in June, it was estimated by local canners. The sardine pack this year will approximate 35,000 cases of ovals and 20,000 cases of quarter oils.

Seventy tons of sardines, mostly quarter oils, were delivered at the plant of the International Packing corporation yesterday morning. Receipts at other canneries brought the day's total up to nearly 110 tons.

One of the local canneries is now canning marinated or spiced sardines by a process invented by a Rumanian seafood packer. This innovation in seafoods already has made its appearance in the local markets and soon will be shipped in quantity to the east.

It was announced here that there will be no clearing house association in force among the canneries here this year during the tuna season, as was the case last year. During the 1920 tuna season packers will operate their own fishing fleets.

Thirty-seven Canneries.

There are 37 fish canneries in Southern California, with an invested capital of approximately $5,000,000 in plants and $6,000,000 in fishing boats and equipment. The value of the seasonal packs, including all species of seafoods, is estimated at $20,000,000.

Sardines, yellowtail, bonita, mackerel and all varieties of tuna form the principal pack. Albacore, the long fin tuna, the choicest white tuna, considered a great delicacy among consumers of seafood, is found in Southern and Lower California waters. This section and the water surrounding Japan are the only places where this fish is found in commercial quantities. The blue, fin or leaping tuna are found in local waters, in Lower California waters and off the southern coast of Europe.

Of 600,000 cases of tuna packed annually about 50,000 cases are consumed in San Diego, Los Angeles and other Southern California cities and towns.

The sardines packed by local canneries are admittedly the best in the world. Sardines also are found on the coasts of France and Portugal and these are the only ones that come into competition in the world's markets with the highest grade packed by local firms.

Local fishermen receive as high as $40 a ton for a catch of small sardines and $15 a ton for the large ones which are packed in oval cans.

Not Yet Profitable.

Cannerymen here assert that on account of trouble in marketing sardines the industry as yet has not reached a profitable stage. Heretofore canners have depended upon the tuna pack to make their money. The supply of tuna, as canners found to their sorrow last year, is limited, and regardless of the efforts to increase the pack it remains about the same each year. Whether the co-operation of naval seaplanes from the North Island naval air station will result in finding additional schools of tuna and therefore more prolific catches during the coming season remains to be seen. In view of the unprecedented success of the seaplanes in spotting sardines, canneries here feel hopeful that the 1920 tuna pack will break all records.

It was announced here that the Southern California Fish Canners' association is affiliated with the National Canners' association in an educational campaign to promote the sale of canned goods. The outlook is so promising that the original advertising appropriation $500,000 each year will be increased to $1,000,000 this season and $1,500,000 in 1921. One of the strongest features of this campaign, canners say, is a voluntary inspection service instituted with rigid sanitary standards exceeding those of any state or national law as applied to the packing of seafoods.

571,662 AUTOS ARE TABBED IN NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., Mar. 16.—New York state registered 571,662 motor vehicles in 1919 and leads all states, Secretary of State Hugo reported in announcing that the automobile receipts for the year approximated $6,000,000.

To stop balding hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of delightful "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. HOME INDUSTRY BODY'S PLANS OUTLINED

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 17.—Coincident with the inauguration of new policies and lines of action the "Home Industry League of California" passes out of existence and henceforth the organization will be known as the "California Industries Association." The headquarters of the association will continue in this city.

The change, following the recent election of Norman H. Sloane as manager of the organization, it is believed, will widen the scope of activity and usefulness and augment the benefits to members and state. Briefly outlining the future policies of the Association, Sloane summarizes as follows:

"The need for aggressive action to keep abreast of the coast-wide movement for bigger markets has prompted the adoption of a broader policy for a strong and efficient organization.

"A billion dollars is spent annually by California people for eastern made goods. California's purchases at grocery stores are 85 per cent of eastern made products.

"Some examples of shortsightedness: California, a great wheat state, sends away annually $1,000,000 for biscuits and crackers. For milk, $1,000,000, and nearly all the leather and furniture used in this state are purchased in the eastern market.

"This situation demands aggressive co-operative action. The California Industries Association is showing the way to our manufacturers and consumers. In its future policy the association does not advocate any slackening of effort to win the patronage of the California consumer. We believe the home market, as well as the outside market, can be best won by a dignified approach calculated to make the consumer proud of California's industries.

"The California Industries are strong and independent. Their products are equal in quality and price to the best in the world and they are entitled to local patronage.

"This association through co-operation on a publicity serving basis and an appeal to civic pride and community welfare can help secure this local patronage in a manner that cannot be accomplished by any individual industry.

"As a result of the organization's efforts more than $10,000,000 worth of California building material has been used in construction.

"Ten thousand men and women have pledged support to 'Made in California' products, price and quality being equal.

"Newspaper co-operation has been generous. Publicity is used to induce the dealer and consumer to buy at home. During the past year alone 3000 separate articles amounting to 21,000 column inches were published in California on the work of the organization.

"This is a notable record of the past and it is the purpose of the California Industries Association to far surpass these achievements, working all the time for all California as well as the individual member."

HARVARD PROFESSOR IS GIVING LECTURES TO POMONA STUDENTS

POMONA COLLEGE, CLAREMONT, Mar. 16.—Dr. Edward C. Moore of Harvard University is in residence this month at Pomona College as exchange professor in the Department of Philosophy. Dr. Moore is professor of Christian morals and chairman of the Board of Preachers at Harvard, and is president of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

During his stay at Pomona, Dr. Moore will deliver two series of lectures, one on "The History of Christian Thought" and the other on "The Philosophy of Religion". The exchange system enables Pomona each year to bring some prominent teacher from Harvard for a month's residence and instruction in Claremont.

Dr. Tasuka Harada, founder and ex-president of Doshisha University, Japan, is also lecturing at the college. Dr. Harada, who is one of the leading educators of Japan, is speaking on the recent development of life, thought, and spirit of his country.

Raymond Robbins, well known social worker, Rev. Raymond C. Brooks of Berkeley, Prof. G. B. Smith of the University of Chicago, and former State Senator Cartwright have recently addressed the students and friends of the college on varied subjects.

Most intimate and personal of the recent addresses was the response of Dr. David P. Barrows, president of the University of California, at a reception recently given in his honor. President Barrows was a member of Pomona's first graduating class in 1894.

ASSIST IN SETTLING LABOR DIFFICULTIES

SAN BERNARDINO, Mar. 16.—San Bernardino County lawyers approve the proposed industrial mediation board that has been suggested as a means of settling labor troubles here at home without their going to the limit of a strike or lockout, and the first committee to help work out the plan for the settlement of differences and grievances were named yesterday by the Bar Association, when Ralph E. Swing, S. W. McNabb and C. C. Haskell were appointed to represent that body. These are not named as members of the mediation board, but as the Bar Association's representatives in the preliminaries and to act for the association in any way that suddenly developing conditions may call for.

TO ENLARGE U. OF C. LOS ANGELES BRANCH

BERKELEY, Mar. 17.—Plans to alleviate the "growing pains" of the University of California were announced by President Barrows to meet an expected enrollment of more than 10,000 next fall. Steps already have been taken to relieve the situation here. The southern branch at Los Angeles will be enlarged to enroll 500 freshmen and the teaching force will be increased. Barrows said that while the regents have the power to charge a tuition fee it is improbable that a charge will be made.

DEL MONTE, Cal., Mar. 17.—The American Trapshooter's Association of New York officially has sanctioned the great trapshooting tournament for this city on May 17 to 23. All the champion trap shots of the country have been invited, and among those who already have signed their intention of shooting are Frank Troeh of Portland, last year's amateur champion.

POT ROAST WEEK—

SEIDEL'S MARKET

The Most Sanitary and Modern Meat Market in Orange County.
220 West Fourth

Henry Seidel, Prop.

We believe it is the duty of every merchandising concern to join in the effort that is being extended throughout the United States to bring prices of the necessities of life back toward normal. We know that the high prices which prevail for some of the fancy cuts of beef are brought about by the insistent public demand for those fancy cuts. If you are one of those who demand the higher priced meats we know that it is possible at this market to

CUT YOUR MEAT BILLS IN HALF.

It has occurred to us that many of our friends who are paying a high price for their meats are doing so because they do not understand that the fore-quarter cuts are just as appetizing and fully as wholesome as the more expensive selections, and they cost only about half as much. With the idea in mind of showing our friends a way of materially cutting down their expenses we have set aside this week, Monday, March 15, to Saturday, March 20, as POT ROAST WEEK.

If you will give the meats we mention below a trial during this week we know you will be convinced that you have been wasting money and we feel sure that you will appreciate our suggestion.

The first consideration of this shop is to be of the greatest possible service to our customers. Our ideals embody other things besides the mere making of money. We believe we have an excellently appointed meat market. No expense has been spared in making it what it ought to be. We do not consider anything too good for the people of Santa Ana and Orange County, but we want to make it plain that it is not necessary to pay a high price in order to obtain choice meats for your table.

ORGANIZING OIL MOVEMENT AT TUSTIN

Believing that oil is to be found in the immediate vicinity of Tustin, effort is being made by a group of property owners to organize a community lease of about 200 acres for the purpose of negotiating with some large company for the starting of drilling operations there.

A meeting of those holding property in the territory proposed to be incorporated in the lease was held at the school house last night, and the matter was discussed at length. W. J. Saunby is said to be one of the prime movers in the plan to organize an active campaign for prospecting for oil in that section.

The territory in view is east of Newport road and north and south of Laguna avenue, Tustin. Those in attendance at the meeting represented more than the number of acres it is proposed to include in the lease. Some signatures were secured at the meeting, the signers doing so with the understanding that their obligation would not become effective unless an aggregate of 200 acres was secured.

It is said that some of the property owners in the district are enthusiastic over the proposition while others do not seem to "warm" to the movement.

So far as could be ascertained today there has been no representative of an oil company in that vicinity endeavoring to secure leases. The movement has been initiated entirely by the property owners. Many stranger things have happened in the present oil territory of Orange county than the development of oil at Tustin, and some of the big fields of today had no better claim to oil producing possibilities before they were tested than Tustin has.

ORANGE-COLTON IN CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

The Orange Union High and Colton High basketball teams will clash tomorrow night on the Colton floor to decide the championship of Southern California. These two teams met in a practice game several weeks ago and Orange came out the winner in that affair by a decisive score. Supporters of the Orange team expect this result to be repeated in Thursday's contest by Santa Ana's followers of this sport.

Large Attendance Last Night Despite Hard Rains of Early Evening

Last night's service at the revival at the Spurgeon Memorial M. E. Church South was the best so far held, notwithstanding the rain kept many from attending. The church was well filled and the evangelist, Dr. H. W. Bromley, was in fine fettle after his day's rest and preached a powerful sermon from the story of the Roman Centurion in the 10th chapter of acts.

Dr. Bromley emphasized the fact that this man's religion was so real that his family, his friends, his soldiers and his enemies, even, recognized that he was genuine. The preacher used many telling illustrations to drive the truth home and in response to his call, twelve persons went forward to give themselves to Christ.

The afternoon meeting was quite a success and quite well attended.

Dr. Bromley and Mrs. Bromley are on their first visit to California and express themselves as delighted with this country. They have made many friends already in Santa Ana.

Dr. Bromley announced a meeting for 2 o'clock each afternoon this week, except Saturday and every night at 7:15.

H. A. Backemeyer is delighting his many friends with his sweet gospel songs and is leading the large chorus choir in a very effective manner.

The pastor, A. T. O'Rear, and his people express themselves as delighted with the meetings and they are expecting a great revival.

California high school principals' convention will begin March 20 at Asilomar, it is announced by A. C. Olney, state high school superintendent.

HARPER'S FOLK TO PASS UPON 'COSTA MESA'

"Costa Mesa."

This will be the new name of Harper if the recommendations of the committee selected some time ago by the three co-operative associations of that district to act as judges in a name contest is followed out.

A prize of $25 was offered for a new name for the thriving little community. The prize was awarded to Miss Alice Plumer of Harper after hundreds of suggestions had been considered.

Interest in the contest was stimulated by a beautiful folder published by the association, copies of which were mailed broadcast. Suggestions for new names were received from as far east as Florida.

The name selected is the Spanish for "coast table land."

The people of the community will be asked to pass on this name in the near future, and if approved, a petition will be sent to Congressman Kettner asking that the name be changed in the records of the post office department.

GLASSY RING CARD IS ARRANGED HERE

Everything is all set for the boxing events at the Grand tomorrow evening. Managers Wilford and McCoy have secured a classy card.

The ring "bugs" are abuzz and it is hard to tell just what bout is attracting the most attention.

The bout between Kid "Knockum" and Young "Mixum" for a three-round curtain raiser is a sort of mystery bout provided by the management and is sure to cause a good deal of comment.

"Kid" Norman, the young "Cullud Pusson" who has had his hand raised as a winner every time that he has started here, and for whom the fans have been yelling for an opponent that will make him extend himself, is taking on in the last of the double-main event one of the roughest, toughest boxers in the country, Jap Romero, the Idol of San Diego. To a "man up a tree" it looks like both of these lads are going to have their hands full.

Many Anaheim fans promise to come over to Santa Ana on Thursday night and have gobbled up quite a bunch of ring-side seats to see the apple of their eyes, "Red" Matthews, hop into the ring in the first bout of the double-main event when he takes on a fast boy in the person of Paddy Dillon of San Diego. Matthews' backers claim that he will come in a winner, but word comes from San Diego to "keep your eye on Dillon."

The semi-windup will be between Howard Swall and Al Williams of Vernon.

The preliminary of four rounds will be between Caldeen and McManus at 118 pounds.

Tickets are on sale at Frank's cigar stand, 311 West Fourth street.

DAIRYMEN WILL HOLD MEETING WITH EXPERTS MAY 3-4

Cow-Judging Demonstration To Be Part of Important Program

Place—Raitt's Dairy. Time—1:30 p.m., May 3, Demonstration; 2 p.m., May 4, Organization Meeting at Farm Advisor's office.

Speakers, May 3—H. E. Van Norman, dean of University Farm, Davis, a noted dairy specialist; Sam Greene, manager of California Dairy Council; G. M. Browne, Burr Creamery.

The demonstration and speaking on May 3 will be another big event for Orange county dairymen. The dairymen's executive committee will stage a co-judging demonstration at this time.

The first day will be devoted to demonstrations and lectures at Raitt's dairy, South Bristol and McFadden streets, Santa Ana.

On the second day the dairymen will meet in the farm advisor's office to perfect the organization of the dairy department of the Farm Bureau and adopt a constitution and by-laws.

Business men and bankers will be invited to the demonstration on Monday, May 3, to see what the dairymen are doing in the county.

EACH FARM CENTER TO HAVE EXHIBITS AT FAIR NEXT FALL

When L. A. Copeland of Huntington Beach, president of the Orange County Fair Executive Committee, asked the Farm Bureau directors for their cooperation in making the 1920 fair the biggest and best of its kind ever held in the county there was not one dissenting voice. The directors were unanimous in their support of the plan and voted to have a committee appointed in each of the thirteen farm centers in the county to plan and prepare exhibits for the agricultural tent at the fall fair. It is proposed to have a large tent, larger than any used last year, for agricultural products only. Every farm center will have a booth in this tent and other communities in which there is yet no farm center will be represented. Each Farm Bureau director present pledged himself to put the matter before his center and see that a live committee is appointed to plan the growing, preparation and assembling of exhibits.

The board suggested to Copeland that it would be advisable to have a paid manager to take charge of the final assembling and erection of booths and exhibits at the tent.

Miss Bertha Wing Becomes Bride Of Farm Adviser

There is a meeting at Bakersfield this afternoon, a meeting that does not appear on the printed Farm Bureau schedule of meetings.

Farm Bureau Advisor H. E. Wahlberg of Orange county is to be one of the speakers. His addresses will be confined to "yes" and "no."

Similar addresses are to be delivered by Miss Bertha Wing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wing.

The most of the talking will be done by Rev. Willis White, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Bakersfield.

By the time this is read, Miss Wing will be Mrs. Wahlberg. For over a year Miss Wing was assistant in the office of the farm advisor of Orange county, and it was there that the spirit of co-operation—co-operation is one of the doctrines of general welfare that Farm Advisor Wahlberg has expounded all over the country—culminated in romance.

Miss Wing's charm of manner and good looks made her extremely popular among all who had anything to do with Farm Bureau headquarters, and Farm Bureau members, as well as a large circle of friends, are going to be very happy, indeed, to learn of her return to Santa Ana as Mrs. Wahlberg. The bride will accompany her husband to the state meeting and tour of farm advisors, returning here about April 1.

BUREAU IS TESTING VALUE OF AVOCADO

The bureau of chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, has under observation at different stations in Southern California crops of avocados, some of which are picked once a month and taken to the laboratory. A general analysis is then made to determine the composition, and the variation of composition from green fruit to mature fruit will be known at the end of these tests. Growers will then know definitely at what date and stage of development to pick these fruits to get them at their best food value.

Seven varieties have been under observation during the past season, one "official" tree of each which none other than the chemical staff are allowed to touch. These trees and their locations are: Fuerte and Taff, at Yorba Linda; Dickinson, at San Diego; Blakeman, at Altadena; Puebla, at San Fernando; Spinks, at Duarre; Lyon, at Whittier. Another season it is hoped to include the Sharpless, completing the eight varieties first recommended by the Avocado Association. All are tested at the citrus by-products laboratory at Los Angeles.

BEES DO POLLINIZING. Many growers are confident that bees help very much to pollinate prunes. It is quite worthwhile to go to some trouble or expense to plant a stand or two of bees to each acre of your orchard. If there are not too many blooming plants near, which the bees prefer to prune blossoms, they will fertilize many blossoms by carrying pollen.—Sunbeam Standard.

FINE SPEAKERS ARE SECURED FOR BUREAU PICNIC DAY

Directors Are Expecting No Less Than 5,000 People To Attend

Four speakers have been selected to take part in the program at the Orange County Farm Bureau picnic at Orange County Park on May Day.

The annual picnic of the farmers is going to be an event of greater consequence than ever before. The directors are expecting an attendance of no less than 5,000 people.

One of the speakers is B. H. Crocheron, state leader of farm advisors. Another is Dr. Frank M. Dowling of Placentia, now an orator, and one of the wisest speakers in the country. Prof. H. E. Van Norman, dean of the University Farm School, a well known farm instructor, and leader in farming affairs, is to be present. Sam Greene, manager of the California Dairy Council, is to be a speaker at the picnic.

Splendid music by the fifty-piece Santa Ana High School band will be rendered before and after the speaking. C. A. Gustlin, the leader, is arranging some special musical treats for the day.

The "stunt committee" is awake nights planning some surprises for the younger people—races, baseball, boat races, etc.

WATER HYACINTH MAY BECOME A NUISANCE

The water hyacinth, which has cost the United States government hundreds of thousands of dollars for control measures in Florida, Louisiana and Texas, has made its appearance in Southern California where it is sold by florists as an ornamental plant. A description of this famous "million dollar weed," and an account of the methods used in attempting its control in the gulf states appears in the monthly bulletin of the state department of agriculture for March. Although prized for its beautiful flowers in the aquaria of more northerly states, its floating habit and its rapid growth in the gulf states makes it extremely probable that should it gain a foothold in California, it would become a menace to navigation and, in irrigated sections, to agriculture.

INTRENCHING KNIFE IS TOOL FOR COLLECTORS

Have you an intrenching knife of the kind formerly used in the United States army? If so, you have an instrument that will be found useful in the field collection of flowering plants and ferns. Ordinary garden trowels are much too weak for field work, according to Department Circular 76, "Directions for Collecting Flowering Plants and Ferns," which has just been issued for free distribution by the United States Department of Agriculture.

BEES DO POLLINIZING.

Many growers are confident that bees help very much to pollinate prunes. It is quite worthwhile to go to some trouble or expense to plant a stand or two of bees to each acre of your orchard. If there are not too many blooming plants near, which the bees prefer to prune blossoms, they will fertilize many blossoms by carrying pollen.—Sunbeam Standard.

Drainage Engineer At Westminster 7:30 This Evening

"Deeper Drainage Ditches and Tiling" will be the subject at the Wintersburg-Westminster Farm Center, Westminster school auditorium tonight, Mar. 17, at 7:30 o'clock.

The directors of some of the old drainage districts are considering deepening their main canals and laterals so as to allow deeper outlets for tiling systems.

W. W. Weir, drainage engineer of the State University, is to speak. He has the best data and information on the comparison of various depths of tile systems and ditches. All farmers located in the drainage country or sections that need drainage will find this lecture to be of vital importance.

W. D. Johnston, president of the Farm Bureau, will report on the recent survey made by Dean Hunt of the College of Agriculture.

MAKING FIGHT TO BRING INSTITUTE TO ORANGE COUNTY

"We want the State Citrus Institute here," said H. B. Wroughton at the directors' meeting, when the secretary read a communication from Prof. Vaile asking if Orange county could accommodate 500 visitors in June.

"The stunt committee" is awake nights planning some surprises for the younger people—races, baseball, boat races, etc.

INMAN STARTS JAP LAND GRAB PROBE

This was the unanimous sentiment of the directorate.

The secretary was instructed to wire Prof. Vaile that the Farm Bureau of Orange county would like to receive and accommodate the visitors in June. The telegram sent reads as follows:

"Prof. R. S. Vaile,

"Secretary Calif. Citrus Institute,

"Citrus Experiment Station,

"Riverside, Calif.

"Orange County Farm Bureau will guarantee accommodations for California Citrus Institute and visitors in June. Chambers of Commerce co-operating, Santa Ana and Orange County extend invitation to hold institute here."

"J. SCHOFIELD, Secretary."

The Citrus Institute will draw delegates from all citrus growing sections of the state. The best speakers and authorities on the numerous problems of the citrus grower are procured for the program. Pomona and Santa Ana are both considered for the institute. Prof. Vaile says that the directors of the institute will meet in two or three weeks to decide the location. The Farm Bureau will send a committee to urge the decision in favor of Santa Ana.

ARKLAND WAS EARLY DAY RESIDENT HERE

A resident of this city some twenty-five years ago, Chas. Arkland is again here, having recently come here to take the management of the Central Market at 111 E. Fourth street.

Arkland remembers the city as a mere hamlet and the development from a village into a city of the bustle and size of Santa Ana today is something of a surprise to Arkland. Even in the early days of the city he recognized surroundings that presented a city of considerable size and importance but the growth has been beyond his expectations.

Since leaving here he has been located most of the time in Oregon where he was engaged in the butcher business, and still has a strong love for that section, but is content here in the home of his early life.

FARM TOUR FOR BOYS.

There is a scheme on foot in Louisiana to send a company of about 100 country boys on an agricultural tour of some of the middle western states.

This is one of the steps to be taken by a state peculiarly adapted to agriculture to interest its youth in the development of the natural resources of their native region. It is believed that these boys will come back with great enthusiasm for farming as a business, and with many good ideas gathered on the tour. It is a far cry from the days when the farmer and his wife were cited as never having left the farm in 50 years, and also from the days when the farmer for that very reason went wearily on losing money and hope, being too ignorant to know he was doing the wrong thing.

"More light more eggs" is only provisionally true. Hens that are thrown out as culs by the progressive poultrymen would never lay enough eggs to break even with the cost of the feed they eat under the best possible lighting and housing conditions.

ARE TO ATTEND MEETINGS FOR ADVISORS AND DIRECTORS

W. M. Belding and Dr. J. R. Schofield Named to Represent the Bureau

The annual conference of Farm Advisors of California will convene at Berkeley, March 22. The annual conference of Farm Bureau Directors of California will meet at Berkeley March 23. A traveling tour has been planned for the 175 county directors and farm advisors to observe the farm bureau work in Sonoma, Napa, Solano, Sacramento, Yolo, Butte, Glenn and Tehama counties.

W. M. Belding of Tustin farm center and Dr. J. R. Schofield of Buena Park farm center has been appointed by President W. Dean Johnston to represent the Orange County Farm Bureau. They will leave Thursday, March 25, by boat.

Dr. Schofield will attend a meeting of Farm Bureau managers at Berkeley on March 27. Several county farm bureaus have their marketing departments which in the aggregate handle millions of dollars worth of stock and farm produce annually. The counties having these marketing departments are Napa, Glenn, Kern, Stanislaus, San Joaquin, Tulare, Fresno, Madera and Merced.

The southern counties have not as yet started this move. The dairy department of Orange county Farm Bureau is contemplating a purchasing department for feeds, grains, hay and supplies for the dairymen, which is a move in the general direction of co-operative marketing.

Farm Advisor Wahlberg is to attend the meeting of farm advisors at Berkeley on March 22.

Fertilizer Brings Added Income To Fruit Growers

The cost of producing a crop aside from cost of fertilization is approximately the same whether it is large or small.

Therefore, the increased earnings from a good crop of first-class quality under present and prospective price conditions would offset the cost of the fertilization several times, helping besides to maintain the fertility of the soil and prolong the life of the vines and trees.

A well-fed tree is naturally stronger, more resistant to adverse conditions and in a state of much greater efficiency, able to produce a good quality and a more abundant crop.

FEEDING DRY MASH IS CALL FOR CLOSE WATCH

It has been urged that one disadvantage of feeding dry mash to the young chickens is the danger of under feeding, caused from allowing the hoppers to become void of meals. Again there will be waste of meals, if proper precautions are not observed.

We are always careful to see that a thin, narrow, board is nailed to the front of the trough forming a part of the hopper, and projecting inward half an inch or more. No doubt much meal is wasted that might be saved. A little care and observation will rectify every error in making the hopper. If moist mashes are fed, daily care must be exercised to keep the mixing trough perfectly clean, not allowing remnants of dough to lay over day after day. This will most surely cause disease in one form or another.

RECORDS IN MARRIAGE LICENSES ARE BROKEN

SAN BERNARDINO, Mar. 17.—It is in doubt that 1920 is leap year, one glance at the marriage license record bureau in County Clerk Harry L. Allison's office will suffice as a reminder.

The records show that during the first three months of this year 187 marriage licenses were issued. Attached in the office state that this is a large increase over the record of the first three months of last year and previous years, save perhaps 1916 in which the girls were excused from harsh sentiment if they professed the nuptial event.

The poultry keeper when culling must not be influenced by any single factor, but must consider all of them. The more rigid the culling the more capable is the flock management. It is usually safe to market at least half of the total number of hens at the end of the laying season, replacing them with pullets.

The important thing, however, is for citrus growers to recognize the importance of treating all wounds of an inch or more in diameter and to make certain that all such wounds are well coated with some dressing which is renewed occasionally as needed, as determined by frequent inspection.

SEEKS AVENUES FOR SALES OF OFF-SIZES

EXPANSION HAS PUT MILK COW AT THE TOP

SOUR MILK HAS BIG VALUE AS GOOD FOOD

REVOLT STATUS SUMMED UP BY U. P. WRITER

The California Fruit Growers' Exchange has started systematically to work out a greater national demand for off-sized citrus fruit, and in discussing the situation, the Sunquist Courier, the exchange's department in the California Citrograph, says: "One of the greatest opportunities for increasing the average returns on California oranges and lemons lies in stimulating a demand for the so-called 'off-sizes.'" Oranges ranging in size from 100's to 176's and lemons ranging from 270's to 360's are commonly disposed of at a good price. But a 250 size orange or a 420 lemon is usually sold at a discount. An excess supply of large sizes produces an equally difficult problem.

Experiments have indicated that there is practically no difference in the amount of juice in boxes of large and small oranges (or lemons) of equal quality, and the preference is often the mere reflection of a trade or public custom. With large size oranges, however, the higher price per dozen may obviously limit the quantity that can be sold to the customer. Small oranges are not so satisfactory when served halved and do not look quite so attractive on the table. For this reason, in years when large or small sized oranges were unusually plentiful, Sunquist advertising has been called upon to suggest the use of oranges sliced or cut up in salads and desserts—uses in which size was of no importance.

"There is even less justification for the prevailing preference for 300 size lemons. What the consumer wants is chiefly the juice. One wonders why a woman who is spending a quarter for lemons cares whether she receives fourteen 360's or a dozen 300's. At any rate the 300 seems to have become standardized in the mind of either the trade, the public, or both."

"The soft drink business seems to offer a very logical solution of the dilemma. When an orangeade or lemonade is made to order a small orange or lemon is just the right size from the standpoint of both juice and price to make one drink. If the exceedingly large sizes predominate then half a large fruit will do. No wise fountain manager should pay a premium for the sizes preferred in grocery stores. A box of 420 lemons contains the base for 420 lemonades. A box of 300 has 120 less and usually cost more."

"Obvious as this seems, the soda fountains of the country have not caught on to it, chiefly because the average dispenser buys his fruit a dozen or two at a time from the nearest grocery instead of from the wholesaler. He not only misses a chance to select sizes and grades, but he pays consumer prices.

"These are some of the conditions

The expansion which has been taking place steadily in the dairy industry of this country during the last seven years has at last put milk cows at the head of the list of farm animals so far as value is concerned. This is shown by a recent report by the Bureau of Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture. The value of these animals now exceeds that of horses and cattle other than milk cows, the two classes formerly standing higher on the list. On January 1 of this year there were approximately 23,747,000 milk cows in this country, an increase of 272,000 head, or 1.2 per cent, as compared with a year ago. Their aggregate value is placed at $2,021,681,000.

Ten years ago the average milk cow was worth $35.29, compared with $78.20 a year ago and $85.13 January 1, 1920. It is generally recognized that the quality of the milk cows of this country is improving at the same time that their number is increasing.

The class of cattle, consisting of calves, steers, bulls, and cows, not kept for milk production and designated as "other cattle," shows a decrease of 700,000 head, or 1.6 per cent. Ten years ago the average value per head of animals in this class was $19.07, a year ago it was $44.22, and $43.14 this year. The number of "other cattle" in the country at the present time is approximately 44,385,000, and their value $1,914,675,000.

SENATOR EVANS AIDS THE BLYTHE HIGHWAY

RIVERSIDE, Mar. 17.—Senator S. C. Evans has returned from Phoenix, Arizona, where he represented the Riverside Chamber of Commerce at a good roads meeting participated in by highway boosters from Los Angeles, Blythe, Phoenix and other places.

Senator Evans said that the Riverside county delegation worked hard for a Los Angeles, Phoenix road by way of Blythe and the Palo Verde valley. The visitors were received by Governor Campbell of Arizona, who expressed his sympathy with highway improvement, but intimated that Arizona at present has no funds available for road work.

The value of sour milk or butter-milk and the reasons why they are valuable either alone or mixed with other feeds is not well understood by farmers and stock raisers generally. Poultrymen are perhaps better informed as to the merits of sour milk than are cattlemen and would undoubtedly use more of it if it was easily available at a moderate cost.

Sour milk, and that includes buttermilk, is not only an excellent feed for itself but it helps other feeds to digest with less waste and therefore does double duty when properly fed.

Just as silage is helpful when combined with other feeds, making them more palatable and digestible, so is sour milk.

Sour Milk for Calves.

Some stockmen persist in feeding calves fresh, sweet milk at first and then gradually take away the buttermilk until only skim milk is left, but do not believe that it should be fed in any other way but as sweet milk.

There is one thing that experience in feeding sour milk to calves has proven and that is that it is almost an insurance against bowel trouble for no matter how much is given them it digests easily.

Stockmen know that great care must be taken in feeding calves sweet milk that they are not overfed and because such precautions are not necessary when feeding sour or buttermilk, is proof enough of its great digestibility.

Sour Milk for Hens.

Sour milk, either scalded and separated from the whey or fed in its natural state, means better health and more eggs for the laying hens.

Great eaters are great layers and there is no appetizer that will equal sour milk for hens. Poultrymen are always pleased to see the hens eating green feed eagerly, and one of the ways to induce them to "fill up" on greens is to fill the trough with finely chopped alfalfa, kale, beet tops or other greens and then sprinkle sour milk over it. A cropful of such feed twice a day means more eggs.

Sour Milk for People.

Scientifically there may be other foods that aid digestion and are more easily digested than milk and if there are, then humans are very fortunate with sour milk to return to it for any reason the others are not obtainable.

A meal of thick sour milk is really a treat and abundantly satisfying, for after eating all one can hold comfortably, a dessert out of the same pan or crock lightly covered with brown sugar still tastes good.

Teamsters and Lighter men have joined the longshoremen in refusal to move cargo at the piers on strike.

(By United Press)
The Ebert cabinet, meeting at Stuttgart today, decided to cease all communication with the revolutionaries in Berlin.

This action was taken by the Ebert government unanimously at a time when General Maercker was reported on his way to Stuttgart from Berlin with the compromise proposals offered by the Von Kapp group.

This was believed to indicate that the Ebert government has rejected all ideas of compromise at this time.

This view was emphasized by the fact that the Ebert cabinet also decided to punish with "maximum severity" all persons implicated in the revolution.

In the meantime, Berlin dispatches indicated growing opposition to the revolution in the capital. Violent fighting has taken place in Berlin. Fifteen persons have been killed and many wounded.

Both the Nationalist and Popular parties were reported to have repudiated Von Kapp.

The fact that the revolutionists' compromise terms were reported to include a demand for amnesty was taken to mean that the Von Kapp group realizes that its period of control may be short-lived.

L. A. WOMEN LAUNCH BATTLE ON H. C. L.

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 17.—A mass meeting of women of the labor movement of Los Angeles will be held in the labor temple March 24, under the auspices of the Central Labor Council, to discuss the high cost of living.

Many plans for lowering prices of necessities, from the boycott to the development of a system of genuine municipal markets, will be presented at the meeting, according to Mrs. Frances Noel, one of the most active figures in the labor movement here.

If you want the chicken manure to talk to crops next year, make it dry up now. Scatter plaster, road dust or sifted coal ashes over it as taken from the henhouse. This will hold the ammonia, which is the tongue of growing crops.

WOMEN GOLFERS BACK 'KNICKER' COSTUME

The joint committee, comprising representatives of the California Oriental Extension League and the Los Angeles County Anti-Asiatic Association, will work through local organizations to obtain initiative petition signatures in every section of the state.

With the announcement that the initiative would be invoked, the committee made public a tentative copy of the petition as drawn by the Legislative Council Bureau of the state.

As drawn at present the proposed petition declares it illegal even for aliens ineligible to citizenship to lease land. One section, tentatively agreed upon by the committee, prohibits any person ineligible to citizenship from acting as guardian of the estate of a minor citizen. This section, according to State Senator Inman, president of the California Oriental Extension League, is aimed at those Japanese who are managing for their own benefit property held in the name of Japanese children born in this state.

Guardian Reports.

Under the provision of the petition as it now reads, guardians of estates of minor children will be required to make annual reports to the state, while public administrators of counties will be entrusted with the care of estates of children whose parents were ineligible to citizenship.

The decision to submit the Japanese immigration problem to a direct vote of the people was made against the advice of John S. Chambers, State Controller, who, in a letter to State Senator Inman, said "it will be safe to wait until the legislature meets next January."

By submitting the Japanese problem to a direct vote of the people next November, Senator Inman pointed out from two to eight months will have been saved.

In view of the fact that women long ago adopted breeches for riding astride and for country hiking, the question naturally has arisen: Why do not women wear them on the links? The theory has been advanced that none of them care to be the pioneer in the movement owing to the attention they would attract. In order to overcome this, it has been suggested that a tournament for women might be held in which the regulation costume should include knickerbockers. The women golfers practically are unanimous in favor of inaugurating the custom.

WE DON'T WANT YOU!

Which Shall It Be— Payrolls or Agitators?

The men who maintain payrolls are the men who do most for labor.

They provide employment for thousands and bear the brunt of the first line trenches where the shocks are hardest, and where vigilance cannot be relaxed a moment.

WITHOUT THEM ALL FORMS OF INDUSTRY WOULD PERISH.

Their work is the work of brains, burdened with cares and fear not only through the day, but during the night, when men who labor with hands alone sleep undisturbed by worries.

In their ignorance of financial and social obligations, Bolshevik agitator would overthrow these men, wreck their industries, obliterate the payrolls, and utterly destroy the social and industrial order through which alone the laboring man can better his condition.

Ignorance is the basic cause of all the ills of the world.

It blocks the path to progress; it jeers and sneers at brains and fills homes with sobs and broken hearts.

Brains blaze the way in every human endeavor. They are the first and final master. All heights to them are accessible.

BOLSHEVISM WOULD FLING BRAINS ON THE SCRAP HEAP, DEPRIVE MAN OF INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS AND RULE BY BRUTE FORCE.

Glen B. Winship, in his highly instructive book, "Wealth," which every man, whether a brain-worker or hand-worker, should read, says—"An ox or an elephant is stronger than a man, but what service can it perform unless some man's mind directs its energies into useful channels?

"If none of us receive more than his just deserts, many of us would receive much less than we have. BODILY STRENGTH IS A POOR INDEX OF THE SERVICE A MAN CAN PERFORM.

"The best thing for any man to learn is that he himself should be a producer; that he himself should save; that he should put his savings to work in the service of others, so that he himself may be better served."

Here is clear, crisp, logical reasoning, the sort against which Bolshevism protests in pitiable ignorance and arrogance.

Will the American Workman Choose Payrolls or Bolshevik Labor Agitators?

Women with Backache

Anaconda, Wash.—"I was troubled with dislocation for a long time, causing backache and those heavy bearing pains, and my blood was in bad condition. I had no appetite and was generally run-down. I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in connection with his Pleasant Pellets and was completely restored to health. I always recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to all my friends." Mrs. A. KEESEY, Gen. Del.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Los Angeles, Cal.—"I suffered from nervous prostration for several years trying various remedies furnished by the doctor. At last I tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, together with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, at the advice of a friend who had used it and had been cured, and my recovery was prompt and permanent. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines." —ROSE FAULKNER, 232 So. Grand Ave.

CONSTIPATION AND OWEL TROUBLE

Everett, Wash.—"I had constipation extreme and had tried different things but got little help. I remembered that my grandmother always used Dr. Pierce's medicines and always vowed that there was nothing like them, so I decided to try the 'Pleasant Pellets' for my bowel trouble. I did so with wonderful results. Am never without them now." —Mrs. E. G. Di MARAY, 2902 Hewitt Ave.

North Enders Want Road Bonds, But Don't Want to Pay Special Tax Besides

(Special Correspondence)

ANAHEIM, March 17.—Residents of the Third Supervisorial District, comprising Anaheim, Fullerton, Placentia, Yorba Linda, Oinda, Brea, La Habra, Buena Park and adjacent districts, would prefer that additional good roads be built by a bond issue, either of the district or the county, rather than by a special tax as endorsed recently by the Associated Chambers of Commerce. But they don't want to bind themselves for good roads in the district and then have to pay a special county road tax besides, and will consent to the special tax for good roads only as a last resort.

This became evident last night, at the first regular meeting of the "Mutual Welfare Association of Northern Orange County," held in the Oyster Loaf Cafe here with thirty-four present, when the association was definitely organized, constitution and by-laws adopted, and officers for the ensuing year elected.

The road question was broached by Supervisor William Schumacher of Buena Park, who said the proposed county-wide road bond issue had been killed, mostly by incorporated cities of the county, because it was believed the bonds would not carry.

RADICAL CHANGES IN PIER PLAN OUTLINED

LONG BEACH, March 17.—Following the rejection by the city commissioners of the W. L. Porterfield pier-approach agreement, radical changes in the Pine avenue pier were today under consideration by the commissioners. It is now proposed to demolish entirely the pier approach leading to the city auditorium.

McFadden said some of the county roads were "poor excuses" and have a very poor quality surface. The state of Washington, he said, after exhaustive tests, is now building her Roads 5 to 6 inches thick with cement, with richer mixture than is used in California, and without surfacing.

Brown said the good condition of the Fullerton to Santa Ana state highway is due, not to the cement base, but to the "Topeka mix" surface, which is similar to Warrenite.

Three federal tax bills, now in the House of Representatives at Washington, were read by Secretary Whitaker, and laid on the table. One bill proposes a tax of 25 cents on each $100 of sales of any commodity, doing away with the present excess profits and luxury taxes, and another proposes a tax of one cents on each 100 matches sold, the money so raised to be used for bonuses to service men who served during the war.

The association accepted an invitation to hold the next meeting which will be held June 1 in Fullerton.

Organization Perfected

The north end organization was perfected last night, with adoption of a constitution and by-laws, and election of permanent officers to serve for one year. The name "Mutual Welfare Association of Northern Orange County" was officially adopted, after Eldo R. West of Yorba Linda, acting for Yorba Linda folk, had objected to the words "Mutual Welfare," because it smacked of an orphans' aid society. West

HOLDS PATENT IMPORTANT OIL WELL FIXTURE

SAILOR, HIT BY A PIG, LEARNS A RUSS CUSTOM

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER, Mar. 17.—Frank Ulrich, proprietor of the Wintersburg blacksmith shop, is the patentee of a most successful oil well accessory which has proved to be all that could be wished to serve its purpose. The appliance is a tubing drainer, which has long been a greatly needed improvement and eliminates a considerable waste of oil beside making the work much cleaner than formerly. The fixture is located in an interesting letter from J. V. Viall, American sailor, received by his cousin, Miss Priscilla Evans of Laguna Beach. Viall enlisted in the navy in June 1917, and was sent from Mare Island to the Asiatic fleet and has been in Chinese and Russian waters ever since, his hope of being detailed to a sub-chaser in the war zone not having been realized.

His letter, just received, reads as follows:

"Well, here I am in China again, having been transferred from the 'Brooklyn' to the 'Wilmington.' I hated to leave my pals on the old Brooklyn, but was not sorry to leave Vladivostok, Russia, is no place for a fellow from Southern California in the winter, believe me. I nearly froze last winter (1918-19).

"One day last spring, having a few hours shore leave, I thought I would take a walk out in the country. It seems that the peasants turn all their animals, horses, cows, goats and pigs loose to graze every day. A herder gathers them all up in the morning and takes them out into the fields where they feed all day and in the evening, when it's time for them to come in, a big bell in the village is rung and the herder is supposed to drive them in, but the animals soon learn to beat it for home when the bell rings, each one stopping at its own stable or pen."

"Well, I didn't know all this the day I started for my country walk. I had gone quite a ways from the city and had just passed through one of the funny little villages, when I saw a lot of animals coming tearing down the road towards me at a run. I thought they would go around me so didn't get out of the way, as I will next time.

Dodges Big Billy Goat

"The first thing I knew a big billy goat was coming right at me. I dodged him, only to have a pig run between my feet and down I went on top of him."

"He squealed and that scared the other animals so that they went around me. After the last one had passed I picked myself up and was trying to wipe some of the mud off my uniform and talking good United States at the same time, when I heard some one laughing. I looked up and there was a Russian girl in a dooryard. She had seen the whole circus. She invited me in and gave me a drink of fresh milk and told me of the custom of turning the animals loose. I had just gotten in front of the home-coming herd from her village!"

Revival Services Held

The revival service opened Sunday evening as scheduled at the local Methodist church. The pastor, Rev. J. Scott Willmarth, was pleasantly surprised on Monday by the unexpected arrival of some former Minnesota friends whom they had not seen for four years. The guests were Dr. and Mrs. Chas. Peters of Minneapolis, and they remained over Tuesday at the parsonage.

Mr. Swain of Red Hill has been working by R. L. Draper on the Smelter ranch and moved Monday of this week with his family composed of his wife and three children, three having been sold to the General Petroleum Company at Taft and one has now been sent to the Texas oil fields.

"To foster and promote plans for the general welfare and advancement of the communities represented in this association.

"To inform ourselves on all county affairs so as to enable us to act in harmony in all matters of county-wide import, to the end that the best interest of the entire county will be subserved and all projects for the general welfare of the county will be furthered in the most just, efficient, and economical manner.

"To faithfully co-operate to make the entire county a safe, attractive and desirable field for investment or visitors.

ENJOY DAY OUTDOORS AT SAN JUAN SPRINGS

IRVINE, Mar. 17.—On Sunday a gay picnic party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius, Mr. Dross and Miss Davission of Irvine, Mr. and Mrs. Ritter of El Toro and Miss Jessie Schultz of Placentia, motored to San Juan Hot Springs for the day. They all enjoyed good hiking and a bounteous picnic lunch.

On Wednesday noon of last week the upper grade girls of the school had picnic lunch, to which the three teachers were invited. The girls did their own cooking and making of cake, pies, salads, sandwiches and all the other picnic goodies. The picnic lunch was a surprise for Miss Davission, who was a very unsuspecting "victim."

A very careless traveler lost a goodly roll of paper money near the hotel Sunday. Margarita Ortega was the fortunate one to find and hold it for the return of the owner. He did return and gave her a liberal reward for her carefulness and honesty.

For the past week the school attendance has been very good, only a few being absent.
